Highlights

- Invion is rapidly progressing towards the development of the next-generation PDT (Photodynamic Therapy) treatment for major diseases.
- The company is backed by a strong leadership team with incredibly strong knowledge and expertise, which can take its technology to the next level.

Life sciences company Invion Limited \(ASX:IVX\) is galloping ahead with the clinical development of a unique next-gen Photodynamic Therapy (PDT).

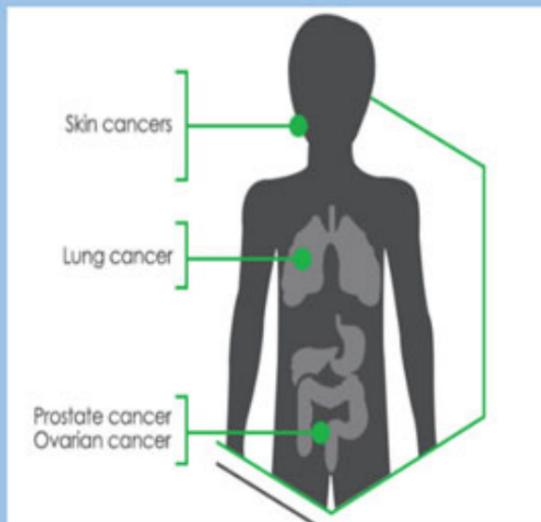

PDT uses non-toxic photosensitisers and visible light to destroy cancer cells and stimulate the immune system. Photosensitising agents or drugs are activated by the light of a specific wavelength. When the light of a particular wavelength is shone on a cancerous cell, it triggers a reaction in the tumour. This, in turn, produces a form of oxygen that destroys cancer cells without harming the healthy tissues in the periphery.

The company is targeting the treatment of several diseases, including a range of cancers, on the back of its global research & development of Photosoft™ technology.

The focus is on Basal Cell Carcinoma and Actinic Keratosis (skin cancer and precancerous cells) and intravenous indications for mesothelioma (a rare cancer linked with asbestos). The company also aims to explore the application of its technology in ovarian, lung and prostate cancers.
